DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 9/10/2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 2-9 and 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kahr (USPAP 20030033245) (Kahr) in view of Szlam (USPN 6868395) (Szlam).

Re claims 2-9 and 11-13: Kahr teaches a method of inviting a debtor to alter of contract contents concerning payment terms of a loan, the method comprising: extracting target customers satisfying conditions for being a defaulting debtor from all debtors (paragraph 0016); notifying each of the target customers, by postal mail or E-mail, of an invitation to alter present contract contents of the loan to allow relaxation of payment terms (paragraphs 0018, 0028); simulating a new payment plan based on new contract contents, based on an access from the target customer (paragraph 0020); and altering the present contract contents to the new contract content when the target customer consents to the alteration to the new contract contents based on a result of the simulation (paragraph 0022).

Kahr does not explicitly teach an address of a Web site at which an application to alter the present contract contents is received. Szlam teaches the step of notifying each of the extracted debtors, by postal mail or E-mail, of an invitation to alteration of present contract contents to other contract contents which allow relaxation of payment terms, and an address of a Web site at which an application for the alteration of the present contract contents is received (col. 1, line 65 - col. 2, lines 11, col. 3, lines 21-25, col. 12, lines 12-34). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Kahr to include the aforementioned step as taught by Szlam. One would have been motivated to do as a means of allowing the debtor to review, selects and complete the information and options via the web (Szlam: col. 12, lines 32-34).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
